

Overview

Building a machine learning model trained with aircraft engine parameters and predicting the efficiency of the aircraft engine under various controllable circumstances.

